HENRY DOUDE,

WHO

CAME FROM ENGLAND IN 1639.

PREFACE.

In the summer of 1883, while conversing on our ancestors with one of the Dowd family, it was stated that only two links were wanting to make the chain of connection back to Henry Doude, who came from England in 1639. In the search for these links, Guilford, Ct. (the place where Henry Doude originally settled), was visited, and access was given to the valuable genealogical records of all the first settlers of that town, now in possession of Dr. Alvin Talcott of that place, where the missing links were supplied. After finding the lineage perfect, my curiosity was aroused to see how far the whole line could be traced. I was not a little surprised to find that through the valuable record, mentioned above (to which I was kindly tendered free access), I could easily trace the first three generations complete and entire, and the fourth almost entire. This being accomplished so easily, and I being only of the eighth generation, I thought I would try to trace out the whole genealogy down to the present time. I little knew the magnitude of my undertaking. The first three or four generations were of course quite limited in numbers, and as they lived in the time of the earliest settlements of the country, they did not scatter and could therefore be easily traced. But a little view of the numbers alone will give some conception of the difficulties. Beginning with our progenitor as alone constituting the first, the second contained eight, the third thirty-six, etc. The fact that the descendants are not confined to those who bear the name, increased the difficulty of following them. The amount of letter-writing has been enormous, and the impossibility of reaching facts which could be relied upon will readily appear to any who have undertaken any such work. It cannot be expected that the work will be found free from errors; still we have in all cases sought to record that which appeared the most reliable. Sterling character, kind dispositions, patriotic purposes, and such qualities of head and heart as make valuable citizens and impart a healthy moral sentiment to community, are marked characteristics of this line. The descendants of Henry Doude may be found in nearly every State and Territory in the Union, while one family resides in British Columbia, another in Italy, and another in Australia, as may be seen by referring to list headed "Geographical Distribution." The address of many still living, I regret to say, has not been furnished. With hearty acknowledgments to all who have kindly aided in giving statistics for this work, and with the hope that you will deal gently with its defects and errors, I commit it to your keeping, trusting all may shun the errors and practice the virtues of our worthy ancestors.

Your Friend and Kinsman, W. W. DOWD.

EXPLANATIONS AND SUGGESTIONS.

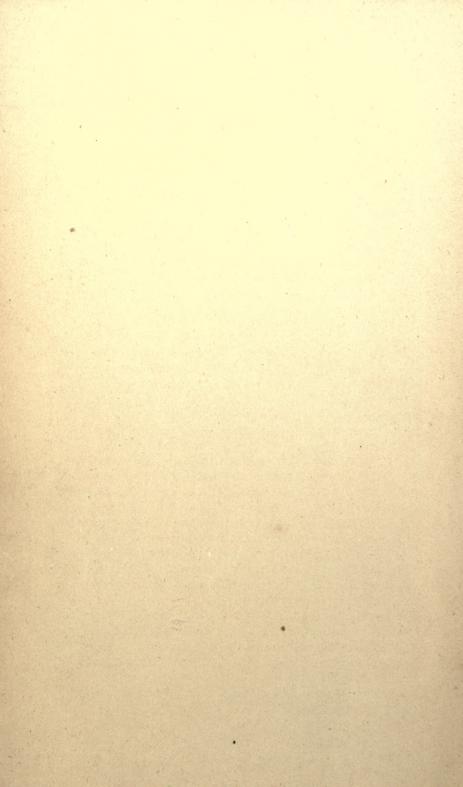

All names have a marginal number on the left of the name, but this number answers both for husband and wife. Above this column will be found the name of the parents, with their marginal numbers in full-faced figures in the center of the page. Finding the desired name in the Index, turn to it in the margin, and then find the number in the center of the page in the margin, and so on till it terminates in Henry Doude, the progenitor of the line, and you will have the ancestors of him you seek. If you seek the descendants, find the marginal number of him whose descendants you seek in the center of the page, and under it his children, and so on.

In respect to the orthography of the name we find the "e" appended to Henry Doude's name in the paper signed by the planters on shipboard before landing in Guilford, Ct. We are uninformed how the sons wrote it. Some of the grandsons dropped the "e," but those who moved to the vicinity of Middletown, Ct., retained it, as the town records indicate. We do not find it however appended to any in the IV Generation. All in the IV, V, VI, and VII Generations spelt the name "Doud." In the VIII Generation several of the branches changed the "u" to "w" and it is retained thus by all who adopted it, except the descendants of 507, who have restored the "u," now spelling it "Doud." We have indicated these changes so far as we were able by the orthography in the body of the work.

We would also direct attention to those lines of which doubt exists, and also to those in the Appendix whose line has not been traced so that connection is made, and the author would invite correspondence in regard to them.

Your attention is also called to the blank sheets interspersed in the work, and where you are familiar with the descendants of any branch, place his number in the next generation in which his marginal number is found, and then write the names of his children, with birth, etc.

By following these suggestions an increased value will be given to the book year by year.

AND HIS

DESCENDANTS.

As we go backward into the illiterate ages of the world, we find the spelling of all names in confusion. The sounds of letters were not so well defined in early times as now. The printing of a name was very uncommon, and even the writing of it was rare compared with what business now requires. Hence there was little identity in the spelling. Different members of the same family would spell the family name differently, and even the same person would spell his own name differently at different times.

The family name under consideration is no exception as to irregularity of spelling. The following is a list which seems probable, as to origin and derivations: Dow, Douw, Dowe, Dowed, Dowde, Doude, Dowd, Doud, Dodd. The w and the u seem to have been freely interchanged. An additional e is found appended, or, as would seem, an additional d, which makes its relation to Dodd quite probable.

An instance of this change of name may be found in the Dow family, which settled in New Hampshire in early times, which, tradition says, and some of the descendants acknowledge, were nearly related to our progenitor and had the same origin: that is, they were brothers. This is given, not as reliable or authentic, but as a report, and the reader can take it for what it is worth.

HENRY DOUDE is the progenitor of all the Dowds whose ancestors were in this country previous to 1776, as the compiler supposes, and for the following reasons: he has visited or corresponded with every Dowd now living in the country whose name or address he has obtained through the press, the correspondence of friends and relatives, or the directories of our large cities. And if the above assertion is not correct, he has yet to learn of the fact. Still, he does not claim that all who are of this line are here recorded, but he thinks it will not be difficult for any into whose hands this book may fall to ascertain his true place and position, if a descendant of the first Henry.

Generations I, II, and III, are complete and entire. Of generation IV, Joseph No. 11, son of Thomas 1st (supposed to have died in infancy), and Ebenezer No. 23, son of John by second wife, have been traced no further from inability to find data. They may have lived to maturity, or even old age, and died unmarried. We consider the record perfectly reliable for all descendants through generations I, II, and III.

Of generation IV, it is also complete, with the exceptions of the descendants of those named above. Of generation V (of course those of descendants IV, named above, are understood to be omitted), Jeremiah No. 64, John No. 70, Ebenezer No. 85, are untraced in descendants.

This is very nearly complete down to about 1750, or 135 years ago; say four generations. It cannot, therefore, be very difficult for anyone who becomes acquainted with this to find his connection with this line, if he can ascertain his great-grandfather's and great-grandmother's names.

GENERATION I.

I.

HENRY DOUDE came from Surrey or Kent County, England, in 1639 (probably Guildford, of Surrey County, seventeen miles southwest of London), with a colony under the Rev. Henry Whitfield, and settled in Guilford, Conn. He was located on land which lies about one-quarter mile from the northeast corner of the "Green," on the road extended, which passes up the east side of the "Green." It is not far distant from the house now occupied by William Dowd, one of his descendants. Whether he lived here at the time of his death or not, and where he was buried, is unknown.

He was probably married before leaving England, as there is no record of the maiden name of his wife. Her Christian name was Elizabeth, and she died in 1713.

Henry died in 1668, thirty years after landing. There is no record when Thomas, his oldest child, was born, nor is there any of some of the other children.

GENERATION II.

The children of Henry and Elizabeth () DOUDE were as follows:

- 2 Тномая, d. 1713, m. Ruth Johnson, d. 1713.
- 3 John, b. 1650, d. 1712; m. 1679, (1) Sarah Tallman, (2) Mary Bartlett.
- 4 JACOB, b. 1653, s.
- 5 ELIZABETH, d. 1669, s.
- 6 JEREMIAH, d. 1668, s.
- 7 SARAH, m. John Bowers.
- 8 Mary, m. 1666, Samuel Hughes.
- 9 REBECCA, d. 1703; m. Daniel Evarts.

GENERATION III.

THOMAS, the eldest son of Henry, is supposed to have been born before leaving the old country, as no record is found of his birth. It might have been however, that early in the settlement, the colony had made no arrangement for a proper record of its births, deaths, and marriages. Thomas married RUTH JOHNSON, but when is not known, probably in 1678 or 1679. Both died in 1713. Thomas moved early to the east part of Guilford, afterward known as East Guilford, and now known as Madison, and settled in what is now known as Liberty street. The underpinning of the log cabin he erected and occupied, has been discovered on a little knoll, just back or north of the house now known as the "Dowd" house. He probably soon built a better house about midway between the "Dowd" house and the "Timothy Dowd" house, just east. Some now living remember the foundations of this original house. Thomas was evidently a man interested in the public weal, as we find his name appended to a petition to the society of Guilford to set off East Guilford as a society for their greater convenience in attending public worship. The children of Thomas and Ruth (Johnson) Doud were as follows:

- 10 EBENEZER, b. 1680, d. 1680; s.
- 11 THOMAS (2d), b. 1684, d. 1711; m. Silence Evarts.
- 12 Јоѕерн, b. 1688.
- 13 Abraham, b. 1691, d. 1758; m. 1712, (1) Jane Doud; 1748, (2) Phebe Kelsey.
- 14 Менітавье, b. 1694, d. 1745; s.

3.

JOHN, the second son of Henry, had a numerous family and settled in that part of Madison known as the Neck. He married for his first wife SARAH TALLMAN, who is supposed to have been a relative of Gov. Tallman, one of the early governors of Connecticut. She did not live long. Two children were the fruit of this union.

- 15 CORNELIUS (1st), b. 1680, d. 1727; m. 1707, Jane Hand.
- 16 Jane, b. 1682, d. 1748; m. 1712, Abraham Doud.

The children by his second wife, MARY BARTLETT were as follows:

- 17 MARY, b. 1688; s.
- 18 John (2d), b. 1691; m. 1636, Rebecca Higby.
- 19 JACOB, b. 1693, d. 1735; m. Elizabeth Cornwell.
- 20 DAVID, b. 1695, d. 1740; m. 1718, Mary Cornwell.
- 21 ABRAHAM, b. 1697, d. 1781; m. Abigail Johnson.
- ISAAC, b. 1700, d. 1769; m. 1725, Abigail Stevens.
 HANNAH, b. 1703; m. Benjamin Acerly.
- 24 EBENEZER, b. 1706.
- 25 ELIZABETH, b. 1708; m. Edward Stocker.

8.

MARY and SAMUEL HUGHES had five children as follows:

- 26 MARY HUGHES, b. 1667, d. 1676.
- 27 SAMUEL " b. 1669, d. 1670.
- 28 ELIZABETH" b. 1670, d. 1675.
- 29 MERCY " b. 1676, d. 1760; m. Nathaniel Bishop.
- 30 ABIGAIL " b. 1679, d. 1760; m. Nathaniel Parks.

REBECCA and DANIEL EVARTS had six children, four sons and two daughters. The descendants of these daughters of Henry, from the change of name and the remote time we have been unable to follow further.

40 HANNAH EVARTS, m. 1686, Thomas Stephens.

41 Daniel " b. 1667. 42 John " b. 1669. 43 James " b. 1672. 44 Sarah " b. 1675.

45 SAMUEL " b. 1681, d. 1692.

GENERATION IV.

11.

THOMAS, 2d, and SILENCE (EVARTS) DOUD evidently lived and died on the old homestead on what is now known as Liberty street. Their children were:

- 51 EBENEZER, b. 1707, d. 1789; m. Mary (b. 1727, d. 1807).
- 52 Joseph, b. 1709, d. 1748; m. 1739, Mary Grimes.
- 53 SILENCE, b. 1712, d. 1793; m. Josiah Dudley (of Wm.).

13 and 16.

Where ABRAHAM and JANE DOUD settled, we have at present no means of determining. Their children were:

- 54 Thomas, b. 1713, d. 1791; m. 1734, Patience Foster.
- 55 SAMUEL (1st), b. 1717, d. 1718.
- 56 Авганам (2d), b. 1718, d. 1801; m. about 1744, Mary Bishop.
- 57 SAMUEL (2d), b. 1720, d. 1760; m. Mercy ——.

15.

CORNELIUS, 1st, and JANE (HAND) DOUD probably occupied the old homestead on the Neck, and the records show him to have been a man of some prominence, and interested in the temporal and spiritual well being of the community. He was active in securing the formation of the Church Society in East Guilford (now Madison), Conn. His children were:

- 58 Janna, b. 1707, d. 1792; m. 1735, Desire Cornwell.
- 59 CORNELIUS, b. 1710, d. 1713.
- 60 Jane, b. 1712; m. David Thompson.
- 61 THANKFUL, b. 1714.
- 62 Rhoda, b. 1717; m. Josiah Wright.
- 63 CORNELIUS (2d),) b. 1720; m. 1743, (1) Mehitable Bailey, (2) Eleanor
- 64 JEREMIAH (twins), b. 1720, d. 1798.

[Ludington.

18.

The records fail to give us any definite information in regard to the location of JOHN, 2d, and REBECCA (HIGBY), and the line has been exceedingly difficult to follow beyond that of his grandchildren. His children were:

- 65 ELIZABETH, b. 1738.
- 66 JOHN (3d), b. 1739, d. 1824; m. 1763, Elizabeth Norton, d. 1814.
- 67 REBECCA, b. 1740, d. 1797; m. Thomas Foote.
- 68 MARY, b. 1743.
- 69 Peleg, b. 1744, d. about 1806; m. Merab Ward.

19.

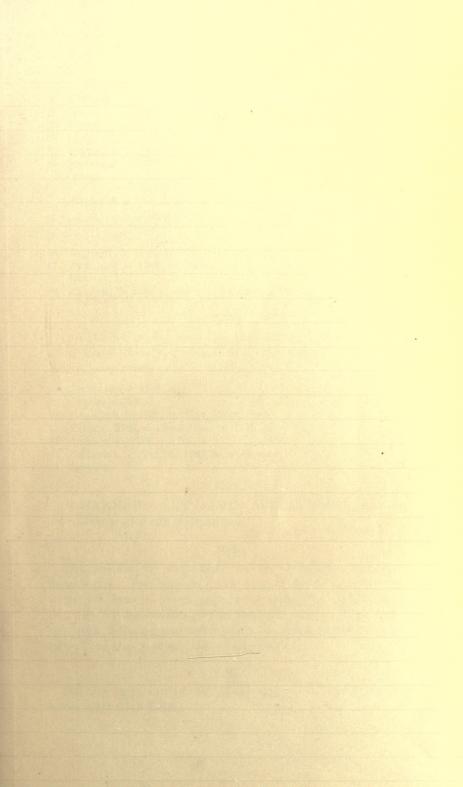

We know less of the descendants of SERGT. JACOB and ELIZABETH (CORNWELL), than of any in this generation. His tombstone is in the old cemetery, Middletown, Conn. He was sent in the expedition to Canada, in 1709. He never regained his health. The first-born is supposed to have died in infancy, although there is no record of date of birth or death, and of Jacob 2d, the only other son there was no issue. This record closes with the following enumeration of his children:

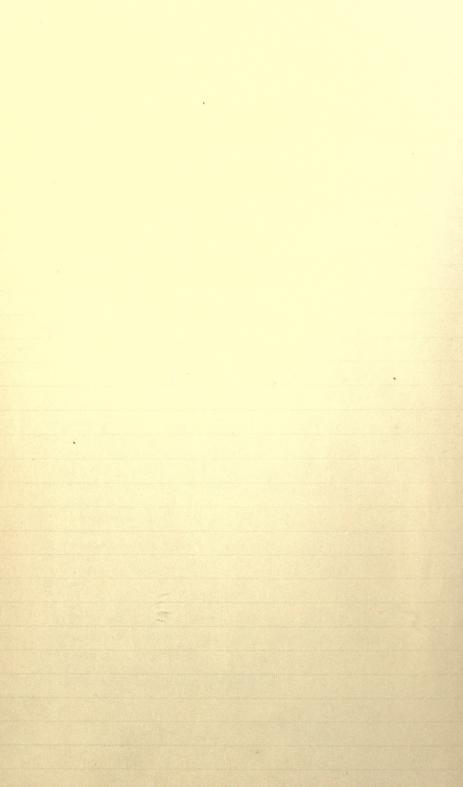

- 70 JOHN.
- 71 ELIZABETH, b. 1720, d. 1736; s.
- 72 ESTRER.
- 73 JACOB (2d), b. 1725; m. 1765, Mary Whitman (no issue).
- 74 SARAH
- 75 RACHEL; m. Thomas Tibbals.
- 76 Lois.

20.

DAVID and MARY (CORNWELL), located in Middletown, Conn., where they raised a large family. Their children were:

- 77 CORNWELL, b. 1719, d. 1744.
- 78 DAVID (2d), b. 1721; m. 1744, Sarah Turner.
- 79 RICHARD, b. 1724; m. 1746, Phebe Foster.

- 80 BENJAMIN, b. 1726; m. 1748, Azubah Hildridge.
- 81 MARY, b. 1728, d. 1745; s.
- 82 DESIRE, b. 1730.
- 83 CAPT. GILES, b. 1735, d. 1776; m. 1757, Esther Bacon.
- 84 JANE, b. 1738.
- 85 EBENEZER, b. 1740.

ABRAHAM (of John), probably lived on the Neck, although it cannot be ascertained with absolute certainty. His children were:

- 86 ZACHARY, b. 1716, d. 1796; m. Ruth ——.
- 87 ABRAHAM, d. 1768; m. Mercy ——.
- 88 HANNAH.
- 89 Asa (1st,) b. 1720, d. 1818; m. Experience Stocker.

22.

ISAAC, 1st, moved from East Guilford or Madison to Middletown, Conn., Society of Middlefield, and there brought up his family, as follows:

- 90 Amos (1st), b. 1726; s.
- 91 CHLOE, b. 1727.
- 92 Isaac (2d), b. 1730; m. 1754, Phebe Stow.
- 93 Ezra, b. 1732, d. about 1814; m. 1755, Mary Taylor.
- 94 Abigail, b. 1735, d. 1736; s.
- 95 Amos (2d), b. 1744; m. 1768, Sarah Norton.
- 96 ESTHER.

23.

Of HANNAH and BENJAMIN ACERLY'S descendants, we are unable to give any information.

24.

EBENEZER we have been unable to follow through his descendants. Yet there are a few lines which terminate abruptly which are inserted in an appropriate place, that would indicate that they are descendants of this Ebenezer. They are inserted in this work, believing that some one in whose hands the book may fall will be able to supply the missing link.

25.

We are ignorant of the descendants of ABIGAIL and EDWARD STOCKER.

GENERATION V.

51.

EBENEZER made his residence in Liberty street, or that part of Madison, Conn., known as Hammonassett. He was a large land owner, but no stone has been found to mark his grave. The land was a broad belt extending from near the east end of Boston street, to near the Hammonassett river. Before his death he took his two sons, and riding on horse-back, directed the boys where to drive the stakes in a north and south line. Then said to Ebenezer, "The land on this side of the line joining these stakes is yours." To Timothy he said, "The land on that side is yours." This was his will. The bounds thus fixed are marked still. This real estate remained longer in one family than any other in the town of Madison, Conn. No record is made of the maiden name of his wife. His family was small for those days. Indeed this branch of the family has never been as prolific as in the line of John, the second son of Henry. The children of Ebenezer 1st, were:

- 201 EBENEZER (2d), b. 1744, d. 1805; m. about 1765, Tamson Wilcox, b. 1747; d. 1820.
- 202 Тімотну (1st), b. 1747, d. 1824; m. about 1769, Mercy Crampton.
- 203 Lydia, b. 1748, d. 1753; s.

52.

JOSEPH, the second son of Thomas, 2d, seems to have moved eastward by the direction which his descendants have taken, but whether he crossed the Hammonassett River within the bounds of Killingworth, now Clinton, is uncertain. Probably not, however. Although he had five children, he had but two sons to perpetuate the name.

- 204 PRUDENCE, b. 1739, d. 1814; m. James Munger.
- 205 MARY, b. 1741; m. John Bradley.
- 206 SILENCE, b. 1743, d. 1763; m. James Bishop.
- 207 Joseph (2d), b. 1744, d. 1809; m. about 1768, Mary Blatchlev.
- 208 DIDYMUS, b. 1746, d. 1831; m. Molly Griswold.

54.

THOMAS of Abraham, settled in the north part of the town of Madison. If his father was the one who first moved into the Wood's District and located west of the school-house, it would be very natural for the sons to extend northward. This location of Thomas would tend to confirm the statement in regard to the location of the father. It is hardly probable, however, that this Thomas moved within the limits of North Madison. Fosters lived in the north part of the Wood's District, and it is probable that Thomas settled in the vicinity of his wife's home.

- 219 EBER, b. 1735, d. 1776.
- 220 LEMUEL, b. 1737.
- 221 SARAH, b. 1743.
- 222 Moses, b. 1744; m. 1767, (1) Lydia Foster, 1795, (2) Anna Nettleton.
- 223 Job (1st), b. 1752, d. 1813; m. 1774, Lydia Wilcox.
- 224 Тномая, d. 1776; s.

56.

ABRAHAM, 2d, raised a large family. Two of his sons, Eber, and Lemuel, stirred with patriotism, joined the army in the Revolutionary War, and gave their lives for their country. The name could therefore only be perpetuated through the remaining two sons.

- 225 REUBEN, b. 1745, d. 1805; m Polly Griffin.
- 226 Anna, b. 1747; m. Benjamin Bartlett.
- Ruth, b. 1751; m. Phineas Dudley. 227
- 228 EBER, b. 1754, d. 1776, s. Died in the war.
- 229 Olive, b. 1757, d. 1835; m. Joseph Wilcox.
- 230 HENRY (twins), b. 1759, d. 1843; m. Abigail Dudley. 231 LEMUEL (twins), b. 1759; d. 1776, s.; died in the war.

57.

The maiden name of SAMUEL'S wife is not recorded. And not only are we unable to give the date of his marriage, but we are also unable to give the date of birth of his only son, and only child that lived to maturity.

- SAMUEL (2d); m. Lydia ----.
- 233 Сньое, b. 1759, d. 1760.

58.

JANNA having no male descendant, it is exceedingly difficult to trace the line, yet doubtless some of the descendants may find their ancestors through the name of the husbands of some of the daughters, given below. Whether Janna lived and died in Madison, I have not been able to ascertain. He lived to the ripe age of 85 years. His children were:

- 234 Desire, b. 1736, d. 1797; m. Amos Hotchkiss.
- 236 AMY, b. 1740.
- 237 Submit, b. 1742; m. Minard Cockhard.
- 238 Janna (2d), b. 1745, d. 1767; s.
- 239 MILLICENT, b. 1747.
- 240 RACHEL, b. 1749, d. 1774; s.

CORNELIUS, 2d, seems to have been migratory in his nature. He early moved to Goshen, then Norfolk, Conn. Afterward he moved to Tyringham, or Monterey, Mass. It is recorded of him that he bought 600 acres of land for three beaver hats. Not satisfied with his landed possessions, he bought another tract for the price of a colt. He was probably the first of the Douds that located in Berkshire County, Mass. Although all of that name now residents in that county are not his descendants, other families of the original Henry, from Madison, joining them and locating there, yet most of them can claim him as their ancestor.

This is the most prolific branch of the Doud family. Had he been a prophet, he might with great aptness, like Leah, of Bible times, have named his first born Gad, or "a troop cometh."

From his migratory character it has been difficult to reach satisfactory results. "Thankful" is found in the church records of Monterey, but whether his sister or his daughter we have not been able to ascertain. His daughter Thankful, I am credibly informed, had eighteen children; one only reached maturity. Over 350 of his descendants are recorded in this work. And all have been born within 140 years. The following are the children in order, as near as can be ascertained, by MEHITABLE BAILEY his first wife:

- 261 MABEL, b. 1744; m. Norton.
- 262 Нергіван, b. 1746.
- 263 NATHANIEL BAILEY, b. 1748, d. 1821: m. 1769, Beulah Merrill.
- 264 CONTENT, b. 1751.
- 265 Solomon; m. Phebe Thompson.
- 266 THANKFUL; m. Samuel Webb.

BY ELEANOR LUDINGTON.

- 267 CHANDLER; married twice, no issue.
- 268 MARCENA, b. 1761, d. 1846; m. 1782, Lydia Gasper.
- 269 Noah (1st), d. 1841; m. 1786, Mehitable Markham.
- 270 THEODORE.
- 271 A DAUGHTER, b. 1770, d. 1777.

The year of birth and death is all that is known of JEREMIAH. He lived to be 78 years old, and it is reasonable to suppose that he never married, as it would have been as likely to be recorded as the date of his death.

The line of JOHN, 3d, closes with the following enumeration of his children, all of them being daughters. Efforts have been made to find some of the descendants but they were all unavailing. children were:

- 291 DIANTHA, b. 1764; m. Eber Norton.
- 292 ETHORY, b. 1766, d. 1766; s.
- 293 INFANT, b. 1768, d. 1768.
- 294 AURELIA, b. 1769; m. Daniel Rice.
- 295 INFANT, b. 1771, d. 1771.
- BETSEY, b. 1772; m. Thaddeus Stanley. 296
- 297 RACHEL, b. 1774; m. Jonathan Humphrey.
- 298 HULDAH, b. 1776; m. Aaron Munson.

PELEG settled in Killingworth, now Clinton. How long he resided there we are uninformed, but we find he moved into western N. Y. while his family was young, as like Peleg of old, it was with him the lands were divided, although perhaps, they were not "isles."

CAPT. GILES was in the expedition to Canada, and at the battle of Quebec. He and his company took part in scaling the heights of Abraham. While returning from the campaign, the scourge of small-pox broke out among the troops and he, in his unceasing efforts to relieve the sufferings of the soldiers, fell a victim to the disease and died at Crown Point, N. Y. He was a native of Middletown, Conn., and married ESTHER BACON of the same place. The Hon. Sylvester Doud of New Haven, Vt., can verify the above with the ancient documents. We are indebted to him, and others of this family still residing in Vermont, for most of the information contained in this sketch.

EBENEZER of DAVID and MARY CORNWELL DOUD of Middletown, Conn., is supposed to have been the father of the following, and we know not of how many more. We wish it distinctly understood that the descendants following down from this point in this line are supposed, not positive. There are certain indications which seem to warrant this conclusion; such as, similarity of names, and tradition that they came from Massachusetts. Elihu died at Pittsford, N. Y. It is possible, however, that they may be of an entirely distinct race. A careful examination of this record will show, that as Elihu was born about 1765, and as all the descendants are traced through the first four generations who could have been his ancestor, except Ebenezer (24), Jeremiah (64), John (70), and Ebenezer (85), he must have been from one of these, if descended from the original Henry. The probabilities point strongly to this Ebenezer, and we shall assume it, with the understanding that the connection is not made in reality, and must be authenticated before it can be considered perfectly reliable. The following is reported of this branch, but all of the descendants following are of Elihu. The names are:

- 440 Елин, b. 1765, d. 1835; m. (1) Sarah Hall, (2) Susannah Barnes.
- 441 Isaac, settled on Yicanac Creek, Penn.
- 442 Phebe, b. in Lima, N. Y., married —— Barlow.
- 443 Another Sister, b. in Woodstock, N. Y.

The children of ZACHARY, 1st, were as follows:

- 453 RUTH, b. 1756; m. Timothy Stevens.
- 454 Solomon, b. 1760; m. (1) Polly Stevens; 1791, (2) Abigail Thompson;(3) Abigail Keoff.

92.

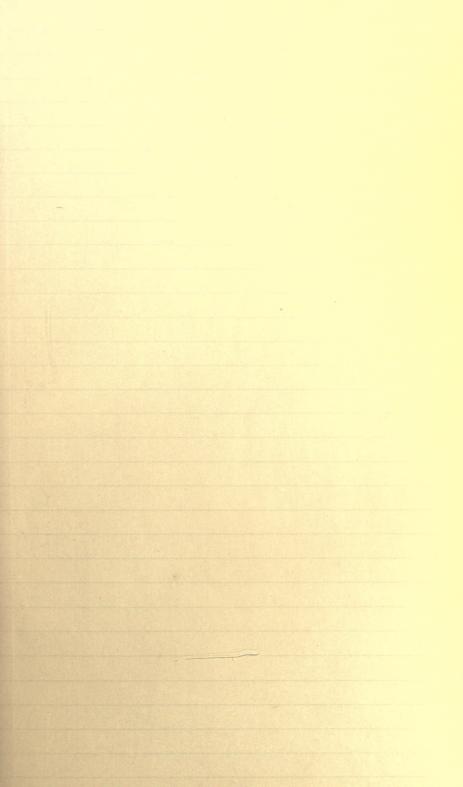

ISAAC, 2d, had one son who was styled "The Giant." Once, while drawing a load of charcoal down the mountain in Berkshire, County, Mass., one of the neap oxen became loose from the yoke, and Israel seized the end of the yoke and performed the part of the loosened ox, in guiding and holding back the load till he reached the foot of the mountain. So laborious and difficult was the feat that the soles of his boots were both torn off in the descent. Ever after he was known by the soubriquet of "The Giant." The last trace we have of him is that he went out in the vicinity of Syracuse, N. Y., with a view of purchasing a saw-mill, and all further trace of him is lost.

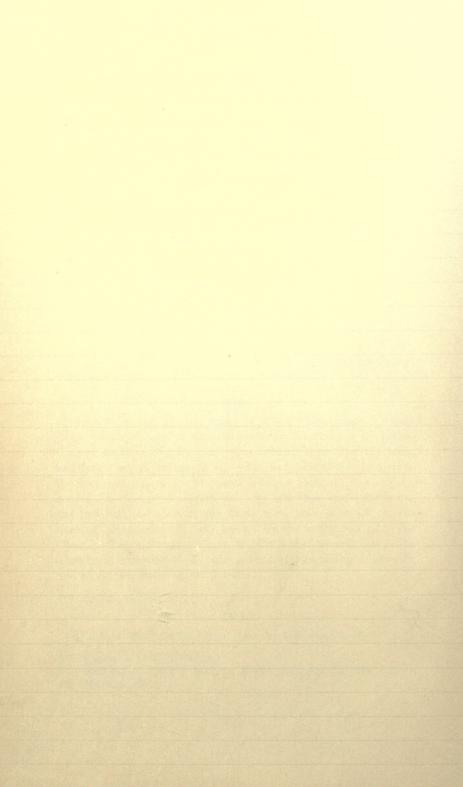

476 ISRAEL, b. 1755.

GENERATION VI.

201.

EBENEZER, 2d, in the division of lands of his father, received the homestead in Hammonassett, where he raised his family of eight boys. It was remarked of these boys by Capt. Timothy Field that their equal was not to be found in Madison.

Ebenezer was a farmer. He was an officer in the Revolutionary War, and was in the war about seven years. His hardships in war brought on the rheumatism, which incapacitated him for labor for many years before his death. His children were:

- 500. Augustus, b. 1766; m. Tupper.
- 501 BILLY, b. 1768, d. 1830; m. 1793, Rebecca Graves, b. 1771, d. 1857.

- 503 ORRIN, b. 1773, d. 1820; m. 1800, Rachel Graves, d. 1802.
- 504 AMASA, b. 1775; s.; died south.
- 505 Julius, b. 1779, d. 1836; m. Clarissa Stone, b. 1782, d. 1832.
- 506 GALEN (1), b. 1781, d. 1782; s.
- 507 GALEN (2), b. 1783, d. 1851; m. 1812, Mary Ward.
- 508 BENJAMIN, b. 1786, d. 1845; m. 1808, Anna Wheaton, d. 1841.

202.

TIMOTHY, 1st, shared with his brother, Ebenezer, 2d, in the real estate left by his father, and built on land adjoining the homestead, but to the westward. The (Doud) house now standing not far from the east end of Boston street is probably the one built by him. Many of the older residents of Madison remember him still. Besides the two sons recorded below, I am credibly informed there was a daughter who married a man by the name of Benjamin, who moved to New Durham, N. Y., and nothing more is known of her. As I can find no town of that name in New York State, there is probably some error in her location. Timothy, 1st, children were:

509 Timothy (2d), b. 1770, d. 1836; m. Sarah Munger, b. 1766, d. 1843.

510 Hubbard, b. 1775, d. 1847; m. (1) Temperance Kelsey; (2) Phebe Hull, b. 1795, d. 1882.

511 POLLY; m. David Benjamin.

204. 205. 206.

Of the daughters of Joseph, 1st, this record is silent, but doubtless many of the Mungers, Bradleys, and Bishops into whose hands this book may fall may trace their ancestor to this same Joseph, 1st.

207.

JOSEPH, 2d, married MARY BLATCHLEY, who seems to have been a woman of excellent standing and of good family. Miss Mary Dowd, daughter of William Dowd of New York city, has in her possession a set of silver spoons which have descended to her through the Marys in direct line from this Mary Blatchley. The children of Joseph, 2d, were:

530 Russell, b. 1769; m. 1794, Phebe Hurd.

531 Joseph (3d), b. 1773, d. 1854; m. (1) Polly Willard; 1816, (2) Susanna Hill; 1820, (3) Polly Dutton, b. 1785, d. 1881.

532 Eunice, b. 1778, d. 1846; m. 1798, Abel Cramton.

533 Lyman, b. 1783, d. 1852; m. (1) Fannie Griffing; (2) Hannah English Law.

534 Polly, b. 1789; d. 1859, m. 1806, Heman Coe.

208.

DIDYMUS lived and died in Madison. One son and two daughters were born to him. His grave may be seen in the West burying-ground in his native town. His children were:

535 Giles, b. 1775; m. Olive Brown.

536 CYNTHIA, b. 1773, d. 1845; m. 1799, (1) Pierson Evarts; (2) Deacon Daniel Platt.

537 SILENCE; m. James Crampton.

219, 220, 221,

Of EBER and LEMUEL, of THOMAS of ABRAHAM, little has been ascertained, except that Eber died in 1776, but whether in the war or not is not known, or whether he was married or not. Of Lemuel not even when he died has been ascertained. The same is true of the daughter Sarah.

222.

MOSES had twelve children. Nine by the first, and three by the second wife. Five are known to have died young. His children were as follows:

- 612 EUNICE, b. 1775, d. 1863; s.
- 613 David, b. 1777, d. 1856; m. (1) Sarah Bishop; (2) Dency (Baldwin) Wilcox.

- 620 Ezra, b. 1792, d. 1871; m. 1839, Abigail Calhoun.

THOMAS of Thomas, evidently died young.

225.

The descendants of REUBEN were widely scattered, and it has been with much difficulty that the line has been followed at all, to say nothing of the imperfect condition in which it still remains. His children were:

- 621 EBER, b. 1784, d. 1853; m. 1809, Eleanor Carmer.
- 622 GAYLORD, war of 1812, b. 1788, d. 1853; m. 1808, Phebe Bailey.

228.

EBER was in the War of the Revolution, and died for his country.

229.

OLIVE married JOSEPH WILCOX, and most of her descendants now living still reside in the native town of Madison, Conn.

- 641 ZENAS WILCOX, b. 1794, d. 1873; m. 1820, (1) Betsey Whedon; 1824, (2) Louisa Meigs.

HENRY located in the north part of the Woods' District, in Madison, Conn., and cultivated a nice farm, which his children retained and improved. They were a thrifty family, industrious and frugal, and those still living are in comfortable circumstances.

They all lived together on the old homestead, and none of them ever married. The following is the record:

- 647 Betsey, b. 1796, d. 1868; s.
- 648 LEMUEL W., b. 1800; s.
- 649 ABRAHAM AUGUSTUS, b. 1803, d. 1883; s.

- 652 Рневе, b. 1764.
- 653 JEMIMA (1st), b. 1766, d. 1767.
- 654 JEMIMA (2d), b. 1768.

263.

NATHANIEL B. was a man of a good degree of prominence, of strong character, and exerted a good deal of influence in Berkshire County, Mass. His liberality, kind-heartedness, and Christian bearing, won for him the esteem and affection of all who knew him. In early days, his family were once in need of bread. He walked twenty miles, mowed all day, received a bushel of corn for pay, then shouldered it, and walked home the same night. He was never sick a day. Was a carpenter by trade. On the day of his death was chopping wood; he raised the axe for a blow, but fell dead before the axe descended. His children were:

- 750 NATHANIEL B., b. 1770, d. 1794; s.
- 751 CAPT. SYLVESTER, b. 1772, d. 1837; m. Esther Morse.

SOLOMON is reported as having moved to Illinois, where he had one son, and perhaps more. It is said this son "Lent," was for a time at school at the military academy at West Point. The destruction of some of the early records of this institution makes it impossible to authenticate this, as the "Commandant" has kindly and diligently made search by request, and been unable to find any trace. As it must have been in the vicinity of sixty years ago, this may not be strange. He may have had other children, but we have failed to discover them. In the town records of Tyringham, Mass., it is recorded that Lieut. Dowd died there in 1775. It could hardly have been this son of Solomon. We have barely the name, (770,) "LENT," without any dates whatever, and without any further knowledge than what is recorded in this sketch.

268.

MARCENA lived and died in Berkshire Co.. Mass. He was a man much respected, and was esteemed a kind neighbor, and a devoted Christian gentleman. The record of his family are not as complete in dates as we desire, still, they are pretty complete records of the descendants down to, and including the present time:

- 790 Joseph, b. 1786, d. 1864; m. 1809, (1) Theda Dowd (see 315); 1845,(2) Lydia Davison; 1851, (3) Maria Chapin.
- 791 STEPHEN, b. 1789, d. 1808; s.
- 792 CHESTER, b. 1791, d. 1852; m. 1814, Mary Hovey.

- 794 LESTER, b. 1795, d. 1866; m. 1823, Parma Treat, b. 1796, d. 1882, of Hartford, Conn.
- 795 VASHTI, b. 1797, d. about 1820; s.
- 796 LAVINIA, b. 1799, d. 1879; m. 1825, Caleb Parks.
- 797 Lydia, b. 1801, d. about 1820; s.

267.

CHANDLER, in his early days, joined the army of the Revolution, and after the close of the war settled in the South. Though somewhat wayward in his youth, he became converted and entered into the active ministry, later in life. Many incidents are related of him which we do not care to chronicle. He had two wives, both from the South, but no children. We are unable to record either the time or the place of his death.

It is to be deeply regretted that the defects of dates for the children of CORNELIUS, 2d, are so numerous, yet the most diligent and painstaking research has failed to reveal them. We have not the date of birth of Noah, 1st, but it was probably about 1766. He lived and died in Tyringham, Mass.

- 798 Noah (2d), b. 1788, d. 1868; m. about 1815, Leva Green.
- 799 MEHITABEL, b. 1790, d. about 1843; s.

- 805 RACHEL LAVINIA, b. 1811, d. 1869; m. 1831, Ira Markbam.

270.

THEODORE moved to the vicinity of Homer, N. Y. He had five children, but as only one married, his name is borne up only by this son's descendants.

- 806 Eli, b. 1794, d. 1840; s.
- 807 HIRAM, b. 1796, d. 1830; m. 1825, Phebe A. Corey.

- 809 BETSEY, b. 1800, d. 1868; s.
- 810 SAMUEL, b. 1820, d. 1850; s.

291 to 302 were all daughters, and we have been unable to follow their record.

Of 326 we know nothing, and of 327 we only know that she married a BOTSFORD.

328 and 329. JOHN and WARREN were soldiers in the Revolutionary War, and were both killed in battle at Hubbardton, Vt.

330.

SEYMOUR, as near as I can learn, settled in Central New York, but I have only been able to learn that he had two sons, without any further information of them or their descendants.

1000 JAMES.

1001 JESSE.

331.

PELEG, 2d, and ISABELLA (RUMSEY) DOUD; we are uninformed as to their place of residence. They had ten children,

ELECTA retained her residence in Vermont, where she raised a large family. We hardly think it so general as to warrant such a sweeping conclusion. Her children were:

SAMUEL 2D's record was very incomplete when this book was published, but new facts have come to light which indicate that after the birth of his three oldest children, he moved to Saybrook, Conn., which made it difficult to follow him accurately. That he lived there the records of Saybrook show. The following, while not absolutely positive, are beyond reasonable doubt. Nothing appears to disprove them. We are informed that his wife's maiden name was Dorcas Dennison, and his mother's maiden name (his father's wife) was Dolly Murray. The following is the corrected record of his children:

652 Рневе, b. 1764.

653 Јемима (1st). b. 1766; d. 1767.

654 JEMIMA (2D), b. 1768.

655 DOLLY, m. Anderson.

656 DORCAS.

1120 MIRANDA

657 SOLOMON, b. 1775; d. 1849, m. 1798, Polly Scott.

658 BENJAMIN, m. Dema Bishop.

659 GEORGE DENNISON, b. 1791; d. 1869, m. (1) 1812, Anna Williams, (2) 1832, Amelia C. Wickes.

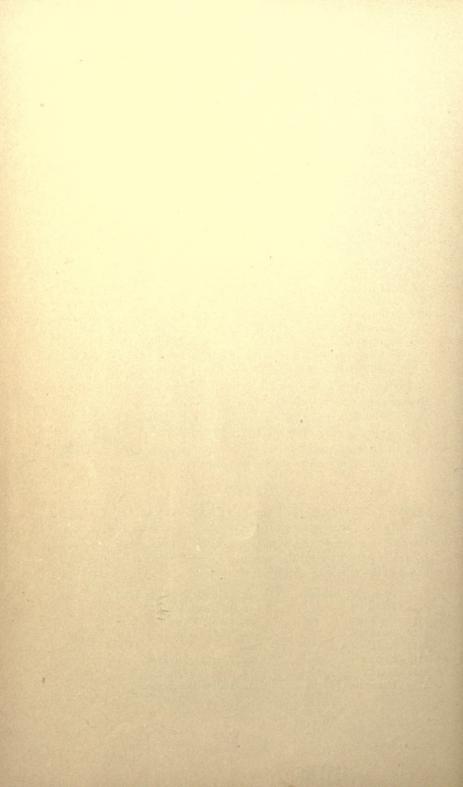

The last three were born in Saybrook, and perhaps all the children except the first three. We have been unable to trace the descendants of any but Solomon and George. We are informed that Benjamin, who had his home in Orwell, Vt., went a few mouths after marriage to transact some business in Albany or New York State, and was never heard from.

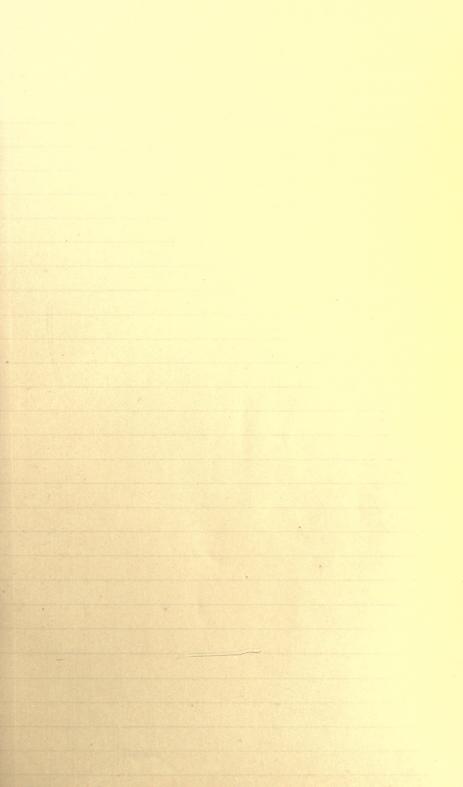

413.

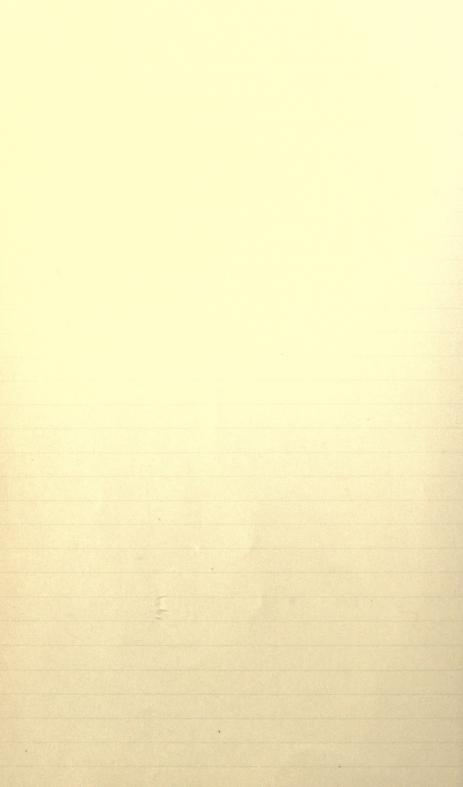

RENA DOWD married for her first husband a Mr. CORN-WELL, who, soon after marriage, went to sea and neither he nor the ship in which he sailed was ever heard of. She had no issue by him. After a proper time she married EBENEZER ROBERTS, and had the following children:

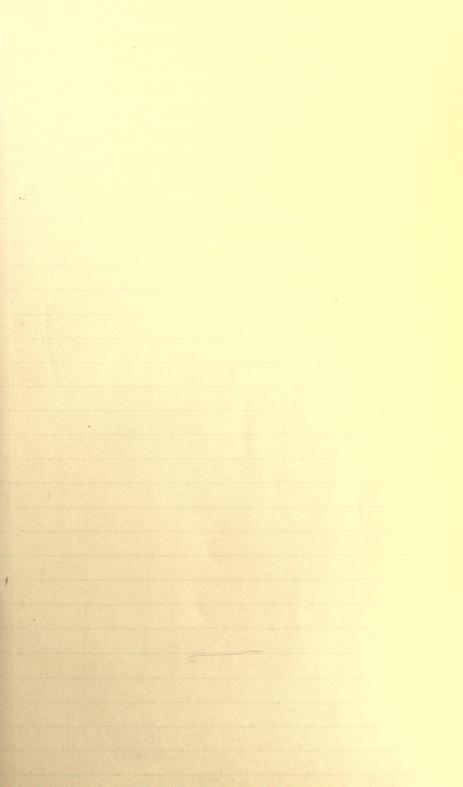

m. Galow Dickenson.

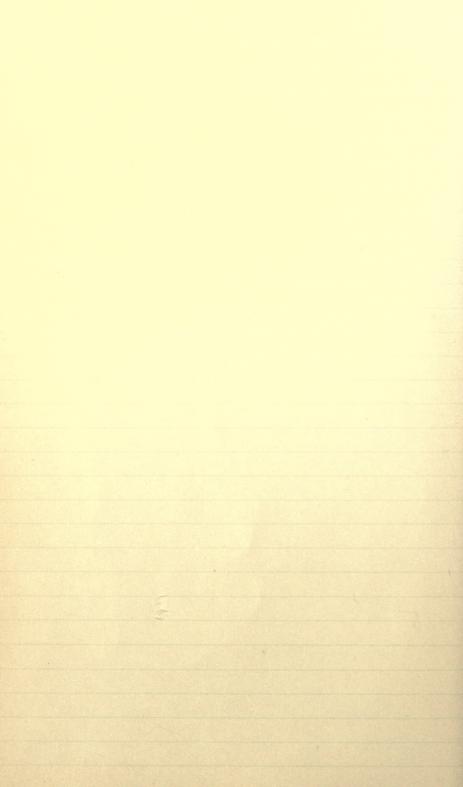

1113	ENOCH C.	ROBERTS,	m.	Rebecca Doud (see 1091).
1114	RENE	"	m.	Hezekiah Wilcox.
1115	BEULAH	"	m.	Harley Bowers.
1116	BETHUEL		m.	Martha Miller.
1117	ALVIN	"	m.
1118	ELIJAH	44	m.	Amanda Hurlburt.
1119	MARIA	44	S.

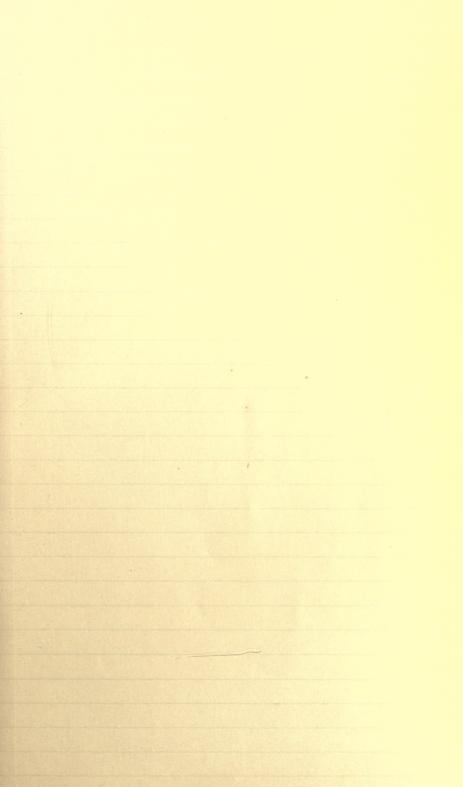

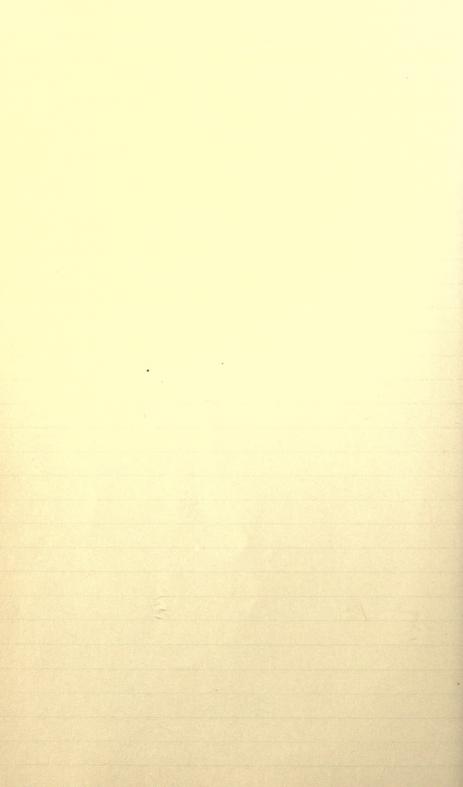

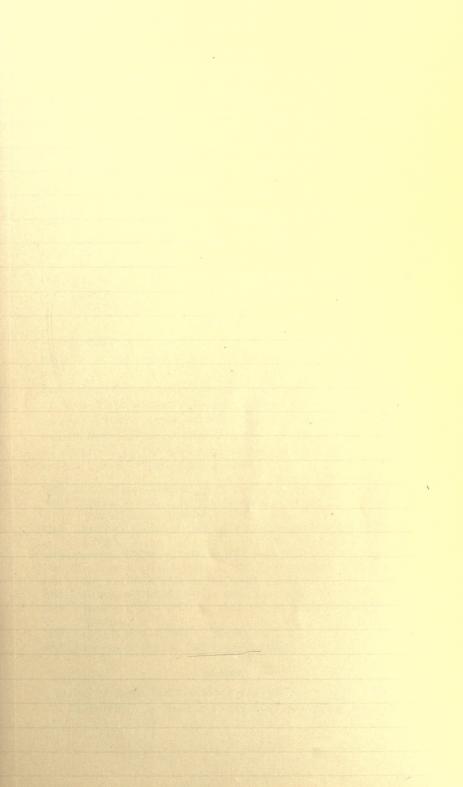

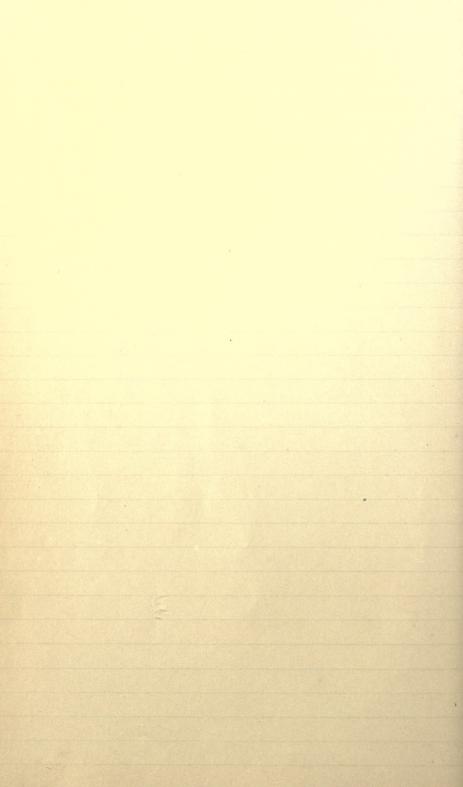

It is with a great deal of hesitancy that we insert the following as the children of 476, and from what we can gather we think it possible these are the grandchildren of Israel the son of Isaac, by a son of Israel named Israel. The indications are too strong to omit them altogether, and they are placed here, and we think the immediate connections can determine their true relation.

1237 MUNROE (no issue), b. 1813, d. 1870; m. Mrs. E. H. Wormwood.

1238 HANNAH E., b. 1830; m. 1850, R. O. Wachman.

12414 MARILLA E., b. 1828.

STEPHEN early moved to New Hartford, Conn., where his large family was reared. After the father's death, or about 1825, most of the children moved to the western part of New York State, where most of his descendants now reside, as will be noticed by their P. O. address, where it is known, appended to their names. A few, however, are still living in Connecticut, manifesting still their attachment to their native "Nutmeg" State. They all appear to be thriving, respected, and influential, where they are best known. Their children were:

LORENZO is still living at Chili, Ind. He has in his possession some tools that were his grandfather's, and he thinks them 125 or 150 years old. His grandfather was a ship-carpenter, but he does not know his christened name. There would probably be no difficulty in swinging this whole line into connection if this could be positively determined. It is barely possible that all the children of some of the fourth generation have not been obtained; as, for instance, Isaac (92) whose record is not satisfactory, but it is not very probable that these are from that source. As Lorenzo is the only living child of Elihu, it will be difficult to get the back connection unless some descendant of Sarah, Esther, or Elihu (2) have old records which will give it. Lorenzo's children are:

3494 ARTHUR, b. 1839, d. 1864.

EVENTUS was a clergyman. The information of his children is all given in the following:

We have been informed that EMELINE FRENCH had a son, Horace, in Fair Haven, Conn., but we have been unable to corroborate it.

1232.

We know nothing of the descendants of EVALINE and TIMOTHY CLARK.

1233.

LUCRETIA was a seamstress, and was in the habit of going into families and living till the entire family was reclothed. The writer well remembers her visits to his father's family, and he has worn many suits which her handiwork fitted for his use.

1234.

GARDNER had two children, who were born in Madison, Conn. Sally, who is still living there at the address of East River, Conn., as Mrs. Levi Dingwell, has been written to for the record, but she has not responded, although her son (as I suppose) encouraged me to hope for it. The record, therefore, closes with the following:

Hon. ELIZUR, who recently died at Norfolk, Conn., in the eighty-seventh year of his age, was thrown upon his own resources when but fourteen years old, and was successively farmer's boy, teamster, store-clerk, and teacher. In 1823 he started a mercantile business for himself, and continued in business life for about twenty-five years. For the rest of his life he was a successful farmer. He was one of the most esteemed citizens of Norfolk, especially respected for his sound judgment and strict integrity. He twice represented his town in the legislature, was many times re-elected first selectman; was town treasurer, and for forty years hardly an estate was settled in Norfolk, without his assistance in some capacity. For over twenty years from its organization he was one of the active trustees of the Norfolk Savings Bank. He was also active in all matters that pertained to the moral well-being of community. In 1830, he helped organize one of the first temperance societies in Litchfield county. He was also active in church matters, being a leader of the church choir, for many years its treasurer and an active member of the Congregational church for fifty years. He fell asleep in Jesus, June 26, 1884. He left one daughter, widow of the late Rev. W. E. Bassett, who was a descendant of John Eliot, apostle to the Indians. He also had two grand-children, as shown in the proper place in this record.

moved to East Berlin, Conn., where both she and her husband died.* She was a woman of great force of character. She remarked that, "it was a good thing to disappoint children as it prepared them to endure the disappointments which would certainly befall them in the work of life." Surely there had been bitter disappointments in her life. Of the nine children born to her, two died in infancy; three in early life before marriage, and another at the early age of 31. score years, her rosy cheeks and sprightly walk would indicate her age at not more than three score. Her husband, ALVA O. WILCOX, is still living, and, although he has imperfect sight, still continues active. For many years he was the proprietor of a line of stages between New Haven and New London, Conn., and was the mail contractor between those cities. His drivers used to say that he never censured them for driving too fast, but frequently censured them for driving too slow. His hotel, which was on the northeast corner of Wall and Boston streets, was drawn off, and he built him a pleasant residence on the northwest corner of Boston and Wall streets, where he and his amiable wife still reside. For fifty-eight years this couple have lived together and shared the trials and joys of life. Their children were:

SUSAN, who married SERENO H. SCRANTON, has always resided in Madison, Conn. At their golden wedding last fall, this couple looked so fresh and blooming that one would have supposed they were celebrating the fiftieth anniversary of their birth rather than of their marriage. WYLLYS W. being the oldest of a family of eleven children, and his father dying while nearly all these were in their minority, was at the very opening of his manhood, called upon, with his mother, to assume great cares and responsibilities. Their homestead consisted of a large farm and house, known as the Capt. Timothy Field place, situated near the school-house in the Wood's District, in Madison, Conn., on what was then called the Guilford turnpike. He had learned the shoemaker's trade, and receiving as his share of his father's estate half the house with certain lands adjoining, he built a shop and entered upon business. He now married REBECCA GRAVES, of true Puritan stock. ancestor, John Graves who came from Hartford to Guilford in its early settlement, was a deacon in the church, and one or more deacons have been in every generation of his descendants. Her mother, Hannah Crane, was a direct descendant of Mr. Crane, Lord Chamberlain to King James II.

Wyllys and Rebecca, as they were called in the bare parlance of New England Puritanism, soon exhibited enterprise and thrift and made their influence felt for good in the church and in the community. Although their education had been only such as the common school afforded, yet their zeal for education was most marked. In this home six of their eight children were born. The father soon added to his business a tannery. Southern contracts constituted a great portion of his business. Having been successful and prosperous, in 1832, he moved his shop eastward to the junction of roads by the school-house, and enlarged his business by adding to it a country store. Two years later, in 1834, he built a new and commodious house right by his store and shop. And here soon after he gathered his other buildings and erected new ones, until a homestead of true but modest thrift and enterprize was the result. But severe business embarrassments awaited him. In the financial disasters of 1837, and thereabouts, through the failures of others, losses were brought upon him which he was unable to sustain. For several years he struggled with them resolutely, bringing into requisition, it would seem to their utmost limit, the ready services of wife and children; yet, at last, he was obliged to succumb to the inevitable. Although for several years he made an effort to retrieve his lost fortune, he was unsuccessful. In 1846, he removed to East Berlin, Conn., where later he was appointed postmaster. He held this office from the time of his appointment till his death. Early in life he was affected with deafness, which seriously embarrassed him in social and public relations. He died in East Berlin, Conn., May 28, 1877, aged 83 vears.

His wife, Rebecca Graves, deserves more than an incidental mention. She was a woman of most indomitable energy and perseverance. She was first to take up burdens and last to lay them down. Her self-sacrifice for her children, her boldness to grapple with their difficulties, even when her own and husband's were most overwhelming, her ambition to educate her children, and elevate them to noble positions in society and in the church with spotless Christian characters, and her generous and kind nature in the relations of social life, all hold her in most refreshing remembrance. As an instance of the influence which pervaded this home, on Sunday, although two and a half miles distant, every member of the family went to church in the morning and stayed all day, attending the Sabbath-school between services. None deemed it hard or ever thought of its being admissible or even a desirable thing to remain away from Sunday services.

Eight healthy and robust children were the result of this union. The strong Christian influence of these godly parents upon their children, the example of their lives, their daily prayers with and for their children, their instruction in the Word of God, and their watchfulness over their companions and associates was exceedingly valuable and helpful. Few children were ever more blessed by a strong and healthful home influence. A remarkable feature in the children was an equal number of each sex, and each daughter was preceded by a son.

TAMSON, soon after marriage, moved with her husband to the West. She being so far removed from her brothers and sisters, together with her early death, makes very little known of her descendants. It is known that she had two children, viz:

Her brother, David D. Dowd of Seville, Ohio, wrote that he saw a daughter of B. O. Spencer, Leila (Mrs. S. C. Miles) at Logansport, Ind., with a young child on her lap, several years since. A letter sent to that address, however, failed to find her, and was returned to the writer.

MARTIN LUTHER carried on the shoe business at first in Darlington and Georgetown, S. C., eight years, and at the east end of Boston street in Madison, Conn., afterward, and acquired a snug little property. He continued to send shoes South till the late war. He was a man much esteemed in the community, filling for many years the office of Justice of the Peace, and for forty years no appeal case was reversed. He also served the Congregational church in the capacity of deacon from election to the time of his death. He was selectman, judge of probate, and town clerk. He married his wife from Westbrook, Conn., and the widow now resides with her son on the old homestead in Madison, Conn. The following were his children:

HARRIET M. moved to Berlin, Conn., at her marriage with EDWARD WILCOX. Her husband was a prominent and influential citizen of that town. He united with the church at the age of twenty, and was ever after active in church work. He was elected deacon of the church, and filled the office with marked ability till his death in 1862. He accomplished much in the Sunday-school, having a large class of ladies for many years, and most, if not all of them, were led to Christ through his instrumentality. He represented the town several times in the legislature. His influence in his family, in the church, and in the community, was always good, and his daily life bore evidence that he was striving to follow more and more closely the Master. In business he was always diligent, but never allowed himself to become so absorbed that he could not attend to more important duties. Although disease fastened upon him in the prime of life and in the midst of his usefulness, yet he looked to the eternal life beyond and seemed to realize at all times that "That life is long which answers life's great end." He died at the early age of 47, and passed away in the full hope of a blessed immortality. His wife was in loving sympathy with him in all his efforts. She inaugurated a ladies prayer-meeting, and by private conversation and a life of godliness induced many to strive after a higher life. Indeed some of those who were influenced by her to consecrate their lives to Christ, devoted themselves to the work in the distant portions of our own land. Being blessed with great personal attractions, the influence of her loving ways and godly life reached much farther than she dreamed. Three children she followed to the grave, yet with loving sadness she bent submissive to the Divine will. She survived her husband but three years, when she took her flight to that land where all is buoyant in the presence of the Lord. But one child survives, Miss Harriet N. Wilcox, who resides in the old home in Berlin, Conn., striving to fulfill life's duties acceptably to the God of her fathers. A worthy child of worthy parents. The children of Harriet M. (Dowd) and Edward Wilcox were:

WILLIAM left his home in Batavia, N. Y., in early life (1844), and came to New York city in search of employment. He made applications in various places, but was unsuccessful. His money being nearly gone his case became urgent, and he went on the dock and engaged on a whaler for a three years' cruise. Somewhat dejected, he went on Broadway previous to sailing and met a friend, who made inquiries as to his prospects. Having heard the recital, he remarked that he knew a place which perhaps would suit him, and immediately took him to the party, and an engagement was made. Being released from the whaler, he entered his employer's service and applied himself with such energy and exhibited so much business tact that within two years he was admitted as junior partner in the firm. This was in the firm of Lyman Cook & Co., 87 Pearl street. He made several trips to Europe in the interests of the firm. Under the name of Cook, Dowd & Co., the firm became one of the foremost in the metropolis. Subsequently the firm-name was Dowd, Baker & Whitfield.

Having accumulated a fortune he retired from business in 1871. But the ability he had displayed was too marked for the shrewd capitalists of our metropolis to allow him to remain long in retirement, and in 1874 he was elected President of the Bank of North America at 44 Wall street, New York, which office he still fills with great acceptance to the Board of Directors. In 1877 he was elected President of the Hannibal & St. Joseph R. R. Co., which his skill and ability soon extricated from the difficulties which surrounded it, and in 1883 he retired from the position. In 1878 he was elected Chairman of the Clearing House Association, which he filled for two years, the extent of time which the rules allow. He was a member of the Board of Education from 1873 to 1883. He has always taken a deep interest in the public schools. Indeed this is characteristic of nearly all the Dowds descended from Henry. William's children were primarily educated in the public schools. He is a member and Vice President of Union League Club. In 1880 he was nominated for mayor of the city, and although a Republican in politics and the city is strongly democratic, yet so highly is he esteemed by his fellow citizens, that out of about 200,000 votes cast he received nearly 99,000. In 1883 he was elected by the Senate and Assembly of New York as one of the Commissioners to provide an increased water supply for the city. This is a position of trust and great responsibility.

All this indicates that his reputation is not confined to the metropolis but includes the State and to some extent reaches through the entire country. He would fill with ability and with honor to the country any office to which he might be called.

He married MARIA MERRILL of Clinton, Conn., of good family and superior mental endowment. In religion he is a Presbyterian and a conscientious member of a Presbyterian congregation. He is still in the vigor of health and intellect, and shows himself in the very prime of life. He lives up town in the vicinity of Fifth Avenue, and although in an aristocratic part of the city, he still preserves a simplicity of style, an unostentatious manner, and a Puritanic benignity (doubtless from his ancestors) which not only commands the respect but wins the esteem of all who form his acquaintance.

In the bosom of his family, with an affectionate wife, four interesting and promising sons, and a lovely daughter, he dwells contented and happy in the enjoyment of that wealth which a benign Providence has enabled him to acquire by a wise and honest life. Nor can we believe that his sterling qualities, his mental activity, and his strong constitution will lie in retirement, but the public will continue to demand his services for many years to come. His record, and perhaps the most brilliant part of his career, is still unfinished, and, like many of our popular works, we close this sketch of him in a most interesting part, and looking with prophetic eye into the future, we write, "to be continued." His children are:

⁴⁶⁷³ WILLIAM BABCOCK, b. 1853; m. 1885, Stella Easton.

CAPT. ALFRED G. of GILES was a ship master. He lived in the North part of the Wood's District, Madison, Conn. He was a jolly, genial, and withal, a very fleshy man. Many amusing anecdotes are told of him. Some of them passed under the writer's observation. One hot summer day he started from home for the sea, some three miles distant, and as he came in sight of Wvllys W. Dowd's shoe-shop and grocery store by the little park, on which the Wood's District school-house stands, he saw Dr. Webb, another portly man, drive up to the store. Thinking to get a ride he ran with energy, perhaps an eighth of a mile, and came up somewhat blown, when the following dialogue ensued. Capt .- "Doctor, you going down town?" Doctor-"No, I am going the other way. What makes you puff so?" Capt .- "I don't puff so but what I can beat you, now." "You can't do it," said the doctor, and jumping from the buggy demanded a trial to the end of the garden fence, three hundred feet or more. Wyllys was to be the judge. the word, both started and they ran well, for both were very sprightly men, considering their build. At the end both claimed they had won the race, and appealed to the judge for his decision. He told them, that as they were running away from him, he could not give a correct judgment, but told them to run back, and he could give a correct decision. But neither could be prevailed upon to run back.

The Captain used also to tell the following of himself. In front of his father's house was a large pine tree. When Alfred was a lad twelve years old, he saw a crow's nest in the top of this pine tree. Boy-like he climbed up to get the eggs. It was, however, so near the top, that he was afraid to get up high enough to look in, and therefore reached in, when out came a big black snake. This so frightened him that he let go and fell to the ground. The branches were so thick that they broke his fall, and he came to the ground unharmed. When asked if the snake came down, he replied: "Egad, I didn't stop to see"

At another time, he was out fox hunting with a party, and as they had tracked the fox to his hole, they determined to dig him out. They all took hold with a will Suddenly the fox sprang out at full speed. The Captain started in hot pursuit, but he had not run but a few feet before he stumbled over a stump and fell. Jumping up and brushing the dirt from his clothes, he exclaimed, "Egad, that stump saved that fox's life."

He died at the early age of 44. He had three daughters, but this record is uninformed of them, except what is given below:

⁴⁷⁴⁵ LAURA CLARISSA, b. 1835; m. 1857, E. L. Drake; d. 1880.

The following sketch was taken from the Syracuse Times of Jan. 11, 1885, and is an abbreviated history of STEPHEN G. HITCH-COCK'S life:

Stephen G. Hitchcock was born at Cortland on the 8th of August, 1830. His early life was passed near Cortland village. When he arrived at a suitable age he went to McGrawville where he entered a printing office as an apprentice. After learning the trade, he worked in Cortland and Homer, having charge of the Republican office in the latter place for several years. He subsequently became associated with E. D. Van Slyke in the publication of the Republican Banner, in Cortland village, where he aided largely in making the influence of that paper a power in the politics of the county. Upon his retirement from that establishment, he made a visit to the West, remaining for a short period in St. Louis and Milwaukee. Returning, he reached Syracuse at about the time of the consolidation of the Union and Courier, the establishment passing under control of the late D. J. Halsted. Mr. Hitchcock's standing as a printer was well known throughout Central New York, and he was immediately engaged as superintendent of the practical departments of the large concern. Here his thorough knowledge of the mysteries of the craft, and his excellent business tact, soon placed the job department of the Courier office in the front rank of similar establishments in the State. He retired from that responsible position to engage in the printing business upon his own account; the office in which he was a partner or sole owner for several years was finally transferred to other hands and Mr. Hitchcock joined with others in starting The Sunday Times, in which he has retained an active interest until the fatal disease attacked him. In the Times establishment the job department has received his special attention, with what degree of success the public is well aware.

In all of these different business connections, Mr. Hitchcock not only exhibited that masterly grasp of his chosen profession which gave him so enviable a reputation in that direction, but never failed to show a conscientious regard for the right of all with whom he sustained business relations, and that clear integrity which always characterizes the upright citizen. And it was, too, in these different capacities as foreman or proprietor of printing offices, that he developed all those kindly, sympathetic qualities which drew closely to him the best regard of his associates, from the humblest apprentice to the most trusted equal. No shortcomang of youth, no faltering of perseverance, no unintentional neglect of duty, no despair at apparent obstacles, ever assumed such importance in his generous eyes as to warrant the show of anger, of contempt, or of hasty chiding from him; he was ever ready with the word of encouragement and well-considered instruction and counsel. And to those employed under him, his generous and unselfish commendation was always a sufficient incentive to best efforts. These good qualities, so inadequately noticed, extended through all the relations of his life; so that we feel our inability to properly portray their predominance in his character. And, withal, his tendency was toward retirement within the circle of his home and friends; he consequently had no large and miscellaneous acquaintanceship; but to all to whom he gave his friendship, it was prized and appreciated at its true and high value. He was the kindest of husbands, and the most indulgent of parents, and his death will cause a vacancy in the hearts of the home circle that can never be filled. His wife survives him, and he leaves a daughter, Mrs. M. Wadman of Danforth, and a brother who resides in Iowa. He lost an infant daughter in 1862. His only living child is:

5479 CORA HITCHCOCK, b. 1854; m. 1871, Morton Wadman.

Col. VINCENT M. WILCOX, after his service in the army, entered the well known house of E. & H. T. Anthony & Co., importers and manufacturers of photographic materials, 591 Broadway, N. Y., and became a partner in 1870, and is now vice-president in the company. He is also president of the American Photo-Lithographic Company. The following is his army record, taken from "Martial Deeds of Pennsylvania."

"Vincent Meigs Wilcox, Colonel of the 132d Regiment, was born on the 17th of October, 1828, at Madison, Conn. He was the son of Zenas and Louisa (Meigs) Wilcox. His boyhood was spent upon the farm, and he was educated at Lee's Academy in his native place. For some years after leaving school, he was engaged in teaching. He was married in 1856, to Catherine M. Webb. He became an officer in the State Militia of Connecticut, in 1856, in which he displayed considerable enthusiasm. Having become a citizen of Scranton, Penn., upon the formation of the 132d Regiment, he was appointed Lieutenant-Colonel. At the battle of Antietam, Col. Oakford, who had this regiment, fell before the regiment got into action, and the command devolved on Lieut.-Col. Wilcox. It held a position of great importance, inasmuch as it was the key to the Union position. The line had been broken in other parts, but if this could be held, there was a chance of regaining the portions lost. In the crisis of this battle, Col. Wilcox received an order from Gen. French, who commanded the division, to hold the ground to the last extremity. But the ammunition had all been expended. By searching the bodies of the dead, a little was obtained, which was economically used; when that was gone, the Colonel reported the fact to Gen. Kimball, his Brigadier-General, for orders, but instead of being relieved, he was ordered to fix bayonets and charge, which was executed with the utmost gallantry, driving the enemy before him, and capturing a Colonel and several men. The battle raged long and fearfully, and the loss among his men was very great; but he exercised his responsible duties with skill and fidelity, holding his position against powerful assaults made by a veteran foe, At the close of the battle, he was promoted to Colonel, to date from the day of the engagement, as an acknowledgment of his merit. His service, though brief, was marked by a full measure of devotion."

REV. ALANSON was a Baptist preacher, and he obtained his education through great difficulties. He was the eldest child and only son, and as his father was in feeble health, the cares of the family fell largely upon him. By teaching school he saved up a little money and went to a manual labor school to prepare himself for the work he felt the Lord had laid upon him. He seems not only to have preached as opportunity presented, but also to have labored from house to house, and been blessed in his self-denying work. With the promise of the Father in full view, "They that turn many to righteousness shall shine as the stars forever and ever," we hope he may realize its fullness and richness when the shadows vanish and endless, cloudless day breaks upon him. His children are:

WILLIAM MORRIS WILCOX was appointed a conductor on the Shore Line R. R., and served in this capacity from the building of the road till his appointment as superintendent, in which capacity he was acting at the time of the sad accident at Stony Creek, which cost him his life, on July 6, 1874. He was genial in his nature, loving in his disposition, and faithful in his work. One who knew him best writes of him: "Life grew so much to him each year that his life deepened, and his work grew broader and broader as his soul grew more pure and noble." To his parents and his lovely wife and children his sudden death came with overburdening, staggering effect, leaving a blank in their lives which time can never obliterate and only hope can soften. The writer, as a tribute to the warm friendship of his boyhood, would drop a tear of respect and affectionate remembrance at his grave.

Alas, my brother, not the hard, cold stone Can tell thy battles fought, thy victories won; Thy life itself, thine own best meed of praise, Attested by thy friends in loving lays.

Thy parents still, with longing hearts, desire Thy presence bright, with all its youth and fire, But still they wait on Jordan's banks; nor long Will wait to join with thee in seraph's song.

Thy wife and children pine the long, long day, For thy strong arm, thy gentle, loving way; And sisters hope to clasp in fond embrace Thy angel form in heavenly dwelling place.

And now, farewell. In yonder world of light, Where faith gives place to stronger sense of sight, May all thy kin and friends in union meet To dwell in bliss and love at Jesus' feet.

REV. CHARLES FERDINAND DOWD, united with the Congregational church in Madison, Conn., in 1837, then under the pastorate of the Rev. Samuel N. Shepherd, having been baptized in 1825, with the first group of children under his pastorate. His early educational advantages were limited to the district school. His father's business failure in 1842, prevented his carrying out his desire of entering upon a preparation for a college course, at this time. He learned the shoemaker's trade and worked in his father's shop (with the exception of teaching a district school two winters) until he became 21 years of age. At this time (April, 1846), he began the definite work of preparing for college in Berlin, Conn, under the instruction of Rev. W. W. Woodworth, the village pastor, teaching however each winter for means of support. He entered Yale College in September, 1848 (as he says), with poor preparation and with resources of support of only $25, at command. He took a recitation-room and boarded himself, but at Christmas, the end of his first term, his resources failed and taking an honorable dismission from college, he entered upon an insurance agency. In this way, having gained means, he returned to college the next year, but was out teaching three winters of the four years of his college course. At the close of the course of his class, he did not present himself for a full examination, but offered himself later and received his degree.

Oct. 6, 1852, he was married to HARRIET MIRIAM NORTH, a graduate of Holyoke Seminary in 1851, daughter of Edmund and Maria (Wilcox) North of Berlin, Conn. In the Fall of 1853, he became Principal of the Preparatory Department of Newton University, Baltimore, Md., and later became Professor of Mathematics of the Collegiate Department. During this period he took up the study of Hebrew and of Systematic Theology. In 1855 he resigned his Professorship to accept the Superintendence of the city schools of Waterbury, Conn. In 1857 he resigned to accept the chair of Associate Principal of the Connecticut State Normal School in New Britain, Conn. In 1858 he resigned to accept again the Superintendency of the city schools of Waterbury, Conn. In 1860, he resigned to take the Principalship of the North Granville Ladies' Seminary, in North Granville, N. Y. In February, 1863, having carried on the study of Theology, but not in direct connection with any Theological school, he presented himself for examination to the Troy Presbytery and was licensed to preach. In February, 1865, he was ordained as an Evangelist, by the same Presbytery, but has never presented himself to the churches for a pastorate. In 1868 he sold out his interest in the North Granville Seminary and bought the property in Saratoga Springs, N. Y., known as the Temple Grove property. Upon the basis of this property he organized the Temple Grove Seminary, which was chartered by the Regents of the University of the State of New York in 1869. Since this time he has acted as the President of this Seminary. In the fall of 1869, he presented the subject of Standard Time to a Railway Convention in New York City. He is the author of several works on this subject. The system adopted by the railroads, Nov., 1883, and now in use throughout the United States, was originated and worked out by him. He has six children, as follows:

He then entered Worthington Academy and pursued the study of the higher mathematics and the languages. Afterward he entered the Connecticut State Normal School. During these years he taught district schools winters pursuing his studies while he taught. In 1852 he went into the State of New Jersey and taught there one year. In 1854 he was called to the Principalship of the Preparatory School of Newton University in Baltimore, Maryland. The same year he was married to AUGUSTA A. NORTH, daughter of Jedediah and Betsey (Bulkley) North. In 1856 he was called to the Principalship of the Franklin Ladies' Institute in Baltimore, Md., which position he held till 1859. Returning to Connecticut, he was called to the principalship and superintendency of the schools of Danbury, Conn. In 1864 he resigned this position to accept the Associate Principalship of the North Granville Ladies' Seminary at North Granville, N. Y. The same year the honorary degree of A. B. was conferred on him by Union College. Two or three years later the degree of A.M. was conferred on him by Middlebury College.

In 1866, his wife, AUGUSTA A. (NORTH) DOWD died without issue. In 1868 he married LUCY A. ATKINS, the daughter of Thomas and Lucy (Miller) Atkins of Middlefield, Conn., who is the mother of his children. In 1868 he took the principalship of the North Granville Ladies' Seminary. The destruction of the buildings by fire, in 1871, and the rebuilding of the same, in 1872, was unfortunate.

In 1875, he having pursued a course of theological studies, under the instruction of the Rev. Lewis Kellogg, presented himself before the Troy Presbytery for examination, and received his license. The same summer he was called to preach in Middle Granville, N. Y., where he labored nearly two years. Being invited by the Board of Home Missions to labor in Astoria, Oregon, in 1877, he accepted the commission and was ordained by Troy Presbytery, but the protracted illness of his wife prevented him from entering on his field. In the fall of 1877 he was called to the Presbyterian church in Port Chester, N. Y., which position he still occupies. The fruit of the union with Lucy A. Atkins was two children.

He suffered greatly from the effects, and the limb did not do well, and after six years of prolonged suffering, he yielded his life as an offering to his country. He was a brave boy. In all his sufferings no complaining words escaped his lips. He was of a cheerful disposition and always looked on the bright side of everything. His face, expressive of patient suffering, rises before me as I write. His last battle is fought, the last pang endured, and now we trust he is wearing the victor's crown.

Dr. REYNOLD WEBB WILCOX resides at 1050 Lexington avenue, New York city. He prepared for college at Lee's Academy and the Bartlett High School, New London, Conn., and under the private instruction of Rev. H. L. Everest. He passed the entrance examinations for Yale College in September, 1873, but did not enter until the following year. In 1875 he received the second mathematical prize of his class. In addition to his required work in the academic department he pursued special studies in comparative anatomy, botany, and geology, at the Sheffield Scientific School, receiving the degree of B.A., with the rank of Oration in June, 1878. Immediately after graduation he continued his studies in metaphysics, political science, and early English history, for which he received the degree of M.A. from Hobart College in June, 1881.

He commenced his medical studies with his uncle, Daniel M. Webb, A.M., M.D. (Yale College, 1849, son of the late Reynold Webb, M.D., Yale College, 1819), and entered the Medical School of Harvard University in September, 1878. In the early months of 1880 he became Medical Assistant of the House of the Good Samaritan, Boston, and in the following May, House officer at the Children's Hospital, a position which he held until July, 1881. He also was for short periods surgical assistant at the surgical division of the Boston Dispensary, at the out-patient department of the Massachusetts General Hospital. He received the degree of M.D. from Harvard University, ranking among the first in his class. in June, 1881, and immediately visited Europe for further medical study, spending fifteen months in the hospitals of Vienna, Heidelberg, Paris, and Edinburgh, and in travel upon the continent.

Upon his return he was appointed, after competitive examination, upon the resident staff of the Woman's Hospital, New York, and was graduated as House Surgeon, having completed his term of service in February, 1884. He then spent some months of travel in the West and South, commencing the practice of his profession in May, 1884, in New York city. Shortly after he was appointed assistant to the chair of gynaecology at the Post-Graduate Medical School, and subsequently physician to the Northeastern Dispensary, which positions he now holds. He is a member of the County Medical Society, the Pathological Society, and the clinical society of the Post-Graduate School of New York.

For some years he has been interested in photography, and is an enthusiastic member of the New York Society of Amateur Photographers. During the last few years he has been an active writer, more particularly in the field of medicine, although the college journals of his time, and later, The Photographic Bulletin, contain short articles from his pen. Some of his articles in the St. Louis Medical and Surgical Journal have attracted considerable attention, and have been extensively quoted.

ALFRED F. DOWD resides at North Huron, Wayne Co., N. Y. He is Superintendent of the Sunday school, and an elder in the church. He is deeply interested in all matters that pertain to the well being of community. He is genial and hospitable. In his delightful home, with lovely wife and blooming daughter, there is an atmosphere of contentment which it is very invigorating to inhale. The record of this branch of the family (as has been said elsewhere, in this record), was collected and forwarded mainly by him. The writer recalls, with a great deal of pleasure, the hospitality of his home which he enjoyed in the Fall of 1884, and the four days' ride he gave him, through—Wolcott, Red Creek, Victory, Cato, Mexico, New Haven, Scriba, Oswego, etc., visiting many of the descendants of Henry Doude, which swarmed in that locality. It was a trip long to be remembered. Nor does he forget the services in the Presbyterian church in the village of Huron, when the writer was informed that nearly sixty in his audience were descendants of this line.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Dowd received a heavy blow in the loss of their lovely boy at the interesting age of eight years. Yet they realized the "Lord gave and the Lord has taken away," while in humble resignation they could say "the will of the Lord be done." The daughter expects to enter some Ladies' Seminary this Fall, the better to fit her for life's responsibilities and work.

"She was born at Turtle, Rock county, Wis., July 26, 1860, was converted in the winter of 1874, and from that time was a devoted member of the M. E. church until she came to Nebraska where she was married on January 14, 1881, the same day of her arrival in this State, where her friends are numbered by scores. She was one of the first nine organic members of the First Presbyterian church of Firth where she has proved to be a most earnest worker, both in church and Sabbath-school.

"Sister Hoffstaed suffered extremely during her three weeks illness, but without murmur or complaint. She was perfectly resigned to the will of the Lord, and shortly before her death she expressed to her husband willingness to 'go home,' to meet and greet her darling little angel babe, which had preceded her, and to sit down at the feet of her blessed Saviour, in whom she placed implicit confidence."

APPENDIX.

In the mass of communications which the compiler has received, he has found traces of some lines of Dowds which he believes ought to be incorporated in this line, and yet hardly feels warranted in placing them in the body of the work. He therefore gives place to them here as being too valuable to be lost, and in the belief that investigation will prove them descendants of Henry. Ebenezer, No. 24, has not been traced, nor is there anything to show that he died young. There is a vague tradition that he went South. The following may be from this source.

Cornelius Doud lived in North Carolina, and was for twenty years clerk of the court there. He had several sons. One was Samuel, b. 1760, d. 1848. His son Atlas Samuel, was born in 1815; and his son John W. lives in Durham, N. C.

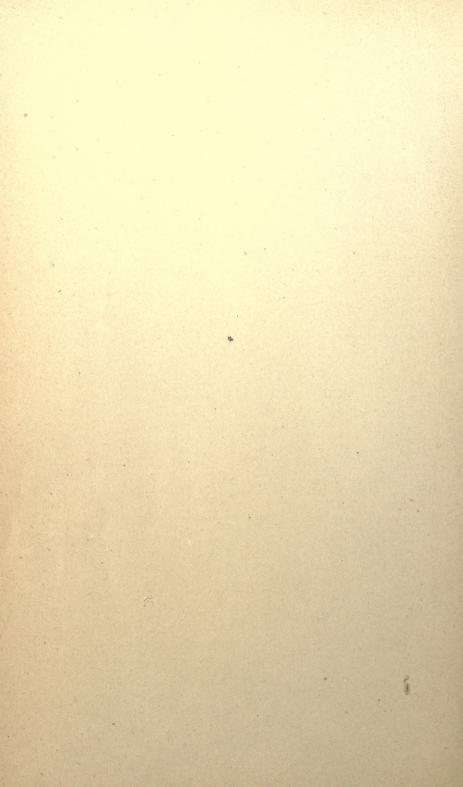

The Hon. Clement Doud, late M. C. from North Carolina, and John Doud, Superintendent of the schools of Toledo, O., are of this line. Many branches of this line may be found through all the Southern States.

Another line is that of Leander L. Doud of Norwalk, O. His father was Samuel, b. 1813, d. 1880, a local preacher. His grandfather was Solomon, b. 1776, d. 1849; m. 1799, Polly Scott. He moved from the East, tradition says Massachusetts. The children of this Solomon were: Hiram, b. 1800; Sally Ann, Laura Permelia, Nancy Eliza, b. 1811, d. 1883; Samuel, b. 1813, d. 1880; John James, b. 1815; Mary Ann, b. 1819; Eunice Ann, b. 1822, and Lucy Maria. b. 1827. I have not been able to communicate with any of this line except Leander L., above. We believe them to be of this stock.

We desire to call especial attention to the case of Miss Laura Dowd of 26 Meigs street, Rochester, N. Y. The following is an extract from her letter of November 16, 1884:

"I am an orphan and was born in Mobile, Ala., in the year 1865. When I was about three years old, my father and mother went to Para (S. A.), where, a short time afterward they died, leaving myself and a brother two years younger than I among perfect strangers. Then my brother, by the name of William Dowd, and myself, were separated. From that place, I was brought to New York by persons entire strangers to me. I have been trying for a long time to find whether I have relatives living but have not succeeded yet. If in the course of your search you should find any person by the name of Dowd in Mobile, Ala., or surrounding country, would you be kind enough to write me, and by so doing, you will confer on me a great favor."

The Southern Doud's, who are evidently of Ebenezer the son of John and grandson of Henry, may be of this line, and Miss Laura Dowd may be of that branch.
